Small Nations Voice Fears of Summit Results

Moscow Radio Hints
Nikita Will Accept
Bid to Conference

PARIS (AP)—Belgium, Greece and Turkey expressed fears today they may be affected by decisions taken at an East-West summit conference in which they had no part.

The three little nations—supported in part by Norway and Italy—spoke up at a closed session of the Atlantic Alliance's Ministerial Council.

The council gave full support to the Western Big Three proposal for summit talks with the Soviet Union but with a proviso for prior consultation among the allies.

Strong hints came from Moscow that Premier Nikita Khrushchev will accept the Western invitation to a summit session this spring with the United States, Britain and France.

Reassure Doubtful Nations

U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd took pains to reassure doubtful smaller nations.

Herter and Lloyd assured the other ministers that no nation's interests would be jeopardized behind its back. NATO officials emphasized that the issue did not develop to the point of acrimony.

Turkish Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu expressed doubts the Soviet Union has the peaceful intentions it professes. This, he said, made firm consultation all round more than ever necessary.

Lloyd said that even on disarmament he did not visualize any final agreements would be made without full approval of any nation concerned. Sources said the allies appeared reassured by these pledges and the meeting closed harmoniously.

It was reported authoritatively that the United States considered the West's proposals for a series of summit conferences as mainly a psychological move in order not to raise false hopes.

The United States does not believe the proposal for a series of summit conferences in any way commits the West to more than the Paris meeting proposed for April, it was reported on high authority.

The test of whether any future summit meetings will be arranged will be the sincerity shown by Moscow at the first conference.

Ends Annual Meeting

The Ministerial Council of NATO ended its annual policy review meeting after hearing a report from French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville on the weekend meeting of the Western Big Four.

The 15-nation council in a communique said it fully supported the invitation the United States, Britain and France sent Khrushchev Monday. West Germany also attended the weekend meeting, but will not go to the East-West summit.

The ministers also endorsed the Western proposal that the new 10-nation Western-Communist disarmament conference start work in Geneva March 15. The council

Car Used In Motel Holdup Is Found

LISBON — The getaway car used in the $500 armed robbery of Barnett's Motel Dec. 11 was found abandoned Monday in Sharon, Pa. Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan reports.

Under the back seat was a license plate stolen in Salem the night of the robbery.

A suspect, James Harold Maras, 20, Warren, is in the county jail under $10,000 bond awaiting Grand Jury action next month.

Armed robbery charges also were filed against his brother, Edmond Maras, 30, Newton Falls, and Charles F. Harris, alias James Miller, 38, Warren.

The search for them continues. The sheriff said he plans to request the help of the FBI this week.

Progress Lags In Steel Talks

Firms Okay Individual Bargaining Confabs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators plowed ahead today without visible progress while plans sprouted for 93 separate bargaining sessions across the country next Sunday.

Seemingly to the surprise of some unionists, industry negotiators bowed quickly Monday to the demand of United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald for company-by-company negotiations.

This scrambled the bargaining picture. McDonald apparently hoped that by bringing the responsible executives of every big and little steel firm into direct talks, he could crack the industry front which has held almost completely solid for eight months against the union's wage and benefits demands.

There was no immediate sign, however, that any of the smaller companies were ready to offer their local union leaders any more than the industry's top negotiating team has offered McDonald.

Each company has its own contract with the union, even though the bargaining up to now has been on an industry-wide basis.

The continuing deadlock made it almost certain President Eisenhower, returning to the capital to night after his 11-nation peace mission, won't get the homecoming present he requested when he left — a signed and sealed steel agreement.

Federal Mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan scheduled morning and afternoon meetings today between top union officials and the industry's negotiating team. They met Monday for the first time in 10 days, but reported no progress.

Finnegan said there probably will be more sessions as the week advances—perhaps even next Sunday, while the dozens of home town negotiations are going on.

11-Nation Tour Is Concluded By Eisenhower

President Homeward
Bound Following
Visit In Morocco

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP) — President Eisenhower headed for home tonight, winding up the crusade for friendship and peace in freedom which he carried to 11 nations.

A thunderous acclaim by about 500,000 jubilant Moroccans and a generous send-off capped the President's history-making tour, the most extended foreign trip ever undertaken by an American president.

Journey Lasted 19 Days

The 19-day journey, on which the President was cheered by perhaps nine million welcomers, encompassed visits to Italy, Turkey, Pakistan, Afghanistan, India, Iran, Greece, Tunisia, Spain and Morocco, as well as a Western summit meeting in Paris.

The conclusion of the President's far-ranging venture in personal diplomacy still found him grinning and radiating confidence that he had managed to spread to millions a feeling of trust in the sincerity of American motives and policies. Any time will disclose the long-term effects. But there were many signs of at least a temporary boost to American prestige as a result of the tour.

The President's orange-nosed jetliner headed westward and was due at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington at 11 p.m. EST, his point of departure, Dec. 3. A refueling stop was planned at Gander, Nfld.

Received With Enthusiasm

The President was received with wild enthusiasm and one of the most colorful welcomes of his three-continent tour when he arrived in this white-walled North African city.

He was fascinated by dashing horsemen, 5,000 strong, who raised their ancient long guns in salute as he rode by in an open car with King Mohammed V past crowds roaring "Yaish Ike" (Long live Ike!).

The President was presented with the traditional Arab greeting of dates and goat milk. Tens of thousands packing United Nations Square cheered as the president grinned and waved in appreciation of the silver tray of dates and the pitcher of milk.

Viewers Packed 10 Deep
Then the Eisenhower motorcade continued from the square down the Avenue of the Royal Armed Forces, packed 10 deep with screaming, cheering Moroccans.

Thirty motorcycle police escorted the American visitor into Casablanca. Moroccan women in veils shrieked "Yoo, Yoo," the traditional Moroccan shout of excitement.

The President, arriving from a whirlwind visit to Madrid where his welcome was similarly enthusiastic, rode through the city in an open car beside King Mohammed V. Both were standing.

Wearing a broad grin, the President waved his hat to the shouting thousands of Moroccans, many in the burnouses and colorful

Sen. Morse Enters Presidential Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) stepped into the race for the Democratic nomination for president today with an announcement that his name will go before Oregon voters in the state's May 20 presidential preference primary.

"Although I would have preferred not to have entered in the Oregon race, I shall not run away from a good political fight if it is inevitable," Morse said in a statement.

Morse, 59, who has been elected to the Senate both as a Republican and as a Democrat, said that his political supporters are entering him in the Oregon primary against his wishes.

He said Democrats in the district of Columbia also have urged him to enter the May 3 presidential primary here, and that he will decide later whether to do so.

"I am sure that most professional politicians who usually are in control of political conventions would suffer political nightmares if my name were placed on the district primary ballot," Morse said.

Six Injured In Car Mishaps On Snowy Roads

Eight Drivers Cited
By Patrol After
Investigations

Six persons were injured in the 11 traffic accidents Monday in Columbiana County and the area north of Salem.

Eight drivers of the 17 vehicles involved in the mishaps were arrested by the Ohio State Patrol.

A car stuck in the snow at the side of Rt. 165 triggered a double collision which injured two men, Robert L. Jones, 33, of Alliance and Earl Ammon, 62, of RD 5, Salem.

It started when Jones skidded off Rt. 165 near Greenford about 9:30 last night. Ammon came out of his home to aid the stuck motorist.

A car driven by Roger Lipplatt, 17, of RD 5, Salem, was unable to stop on the snow-covered road and struck the two men and the car. They were treated at Salem City Hospital for contusions of the body. Ammon suffered possible fractured ribs.

About 10 minutes later, a car driven by Howard Paulin of 1239 E. 11th St. skidded into the two-car pileup, pushing Lipplatt's car into Jones' auto, highway patrolmen said.

Both Lipplatt and Paulin were cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

Other Collisions

Canfield and Lisbon posts of the highway patrol called in off-duty personnel as the number of minor accidents climbed. Lisbon post reported nine accidents yesterday, several occurring within minutes of each other.

Cars driven by Roy Oberholzer, 45, of Front St., New Waterford, and Gail Garwood, 18, of 481 Pearl St., Leetonia, sideswiped on Rt. 46, just west of New Waterford, at 3:10 p.m. Garwood was arrested for being left of center.

Mrs. Edith Ludwig, 59, of East Liverpool suffered a broken knee cap and head and shoulder injuries when her husband, Homer, 60, collided with a car operated by Billy Myers, 23, of RD 2, Lisbon at 11:30 a.m. on Rt. 7, about eight miles south of Rogers.

She is in satisfactory condition at East Liverpool Hospital. Patrolmen arrested Myers for driving left of center after he made a left turn in front of the Ludwig auto.

Janice Dunn, 19, of RD 2, East Palestine, and Mrs. Jack Schultz, 19, of 122 1/2 W. Clark St., East Palestine, a passenger in the girl's

Living Costs Creep To All-Time High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs crept upward to another all-time high in November, but the rise was at a slower pace than in other recent months, the government reported today.

Consumer prices advanced less than one-tenth of one per cent to a level 25.6 per cent above the 1947 average. A month earlier, prices were 25.5 per cent above the base period.

It was the sixth time in seven months that prices, as measured by the Labor Department's consumer price index, advanced to a new peak.

Will Guarantee Safe Water Supply

County Home to Get Chlorinating System

LISBON — The Columbiana County commissioners signed a contract Monday with Horton's Pump Service, Columbiana to furnish and install a chlorinating system at the County Home.

Horton got the job on a bid of $3,200. H. M. Ellyson & Son, Salem, and Ohio Pump Co., Salem, were close behind with bids of $3,224 and $3,244 respectively.

Commissioners said the chlorinator will be located in the milk house, and that water used in all departments at the home will be treated.

The project will include laying new pipe from the main line and tearing down part of the milk house wall to install a tank.

Horton said he would deduct $300 if the county digs and backfills the ditch for the new pipe.

Water samples taken at the home last October by County Sanitary Harry Stockdale were found "unsafe" on analysis by the State Department of Health. Repairs were made immediately to eliminate the danger of surface drainage, and the installation of a chlorinator will guarantee a safe water supply, commissioners said.

Commissioners also opened bids yesterday on a 1960 Chevrolet two-door sedan for the sheriff's department and accepted a $1,572.96 proposal from Brittain Motors, Inc., East Palestine. Brittain accepted a 1958 Plymouth two-door sedan in trade.

Woolley Chevrolet, Leetonia, bid $1,636.52; Lewis Chevrolet, Lisbon, $1,774; Parker Chevrolet, Salem, $1,800; and Mike Turk, Inc., East Liverpool, $1,950.

The board will prescribe conditions which will be met by the firms before expansion is allowed.

Salem Area Industrial Development Corp. pushed for the adoption of the measure. Archie Bricker, president, and Ronald Leigh, executive secretary, stressed that the city must create a positive industrial climate. They told Council the measure is "a step in the right direction" and asserted that the expansion of local businesses and the resultant increased employment is just as good as attracting new businesses and industries into Salem.

The change in the zoning code is under consideration because the Salem Label Co. on S. Lundy Ave. needs room for expansion at its present site. Other concerns are faced with the same problem; that of expanding operations at their present locations or moving to the outskirts of the town where more room is available.

Kiwanis Officers To Be Installed

James Giffin, co-owner of the Stark Memorial, will succeed Orin Naragon as president of the Salem Kiwanis Club Wednesday.

The president-elect and other officers will be installed at the noon meeting in the Memorial Building by G. V. Weinstock of Lisbon, district lieutenant-governor.

Ralph Martin will become first vice-president and John Callahan, second vice president.

Other officers are Norman Eckfeld, treasurer; directors, Delmer Smith, Dr. John Liggett, Ralph Landwert, William McKay, William Malloy, Wade McGhee and Charter Merrill.

Gail Herron is program chairman for this week.

New Schedule Approved By School Board

Minimum Is Raised
$375; Principals,
Others Included

The Salem Board of Education gave a Christmas present to the system's teachers and supervisors Monday night but they won't receive it until Jan. 1.

Board members unanimously approved a new salary schedule for teachers and granted a $300 across-the-board pay hike to the principals and other supervisors.

Salary increases involved will amount to $38,530 during 1960.

The action, taken in the face of threatened loss of state school aid funds, resulted from increases in minimum teachers' salaries. These were changed by the state at the last Ohio General Assembly.

Starting Pay Is Better

Greatest change under the new salary program, aimed at attracting better instructors to the city's schools, is in the starting pay for degree holders. Salaries for beginning teachers jumped $375.

Maximum pay for teachers increased also, but amounted to $265 for the degree holders. The new pay scale has been changed from 16 increments for teaching experience to 15 years experience.

In an effort to "force" non-degree teachers entering the system after Jan. 1 back to school for degrees, the school board cut the increments for teaching experience to five and set maximum pay for those with two years of education at $3500. Those with three years' education will be frozen at $3,800.

Under the new schedule, effective Jan. 1, beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees will start at $3,900 (previously $3,525); teachers with five years education will start at $4,100 (previously $3,725); and teachers with master's degrees will start at $4,300 (previously $3,925).

Top salaries for those three groups at the end of 15 years experience are $5,525, $5,725 and $5,925. Increments are $100 for the first 10 years and $125 for the next five years.

Since the new pay plan goes into operation during the middle of the school year, the teachers will receive five-ninths of their increases during the remainder of this school year and four-ninths of it in the school term commencing next September.

How It Will Work
However, the board ruled no teacher will receive more than $390 in increases caused by this schedule during any one year. Under the proportionment of salaries because two school years are involved, teachers authorized $300 increases will receive $166 before July and the rest next fall.

The board also instructed Superintendent Paul E. Smith to draw up a policy governing advanced education for teachers. The system has been paying bonuses for the extra training. Under the new policy the bonus money will be paid only if the schooling is toward certification or a higher degree.

In other action, the board approved a resolution accepting an amended certificate of resources from the County Auditor and transferred the still-uncollected money to teachers' salaries. Nearly $34,000 was involved in the transaction.

Franco Favors Summit Talks

Ike, Spanish Leader Cite Strong Defense

MADRID (AP) — President Dwight Eisenhower and Generalissimo Francisco Franco agreed today Western talks with the Soviets and the President's visit to Moscow next year will help the cause of peace. But they added "a firm defense posture should be maintained" by the West.

The two chiefs of state after a breakfast conference of two hours and 20 minutes at Franco's Pardo Palace said their conversation strengthened the bonds of cooperation between Spain and the United States.

They issued a joint statement as Eisenhower took off in his big jet airliner for Morocco, the last stop of his 11-nation goodwill tour. His reception in Madrid, the next to last stop, was the greatest ever given a foreign visitor in modern Spain. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty quoted Eisenhower as saying he was completely overwhelmed.

About a million Spaniards roared "Viva Ike" as the President rode through Madrid with Franco, resplendent in his generalissimo's uniform, in cold rain and wind late Monday.

Their communique said Eisenhower had given Franco and members of his government a full briefing on the purposes of his 22,000-mile tour of three continents and the results he hoped to attain. "The talks, which covered a wide variety of other international matters of interest to both countries, were conducted in an atmosphere of cordiality and understanding," the statement said.

Franco said in toasting Eisenhower at a banquet Monday night Spaniards are well aware "we enjoy the preservation of liberty in Western Europe, without falling under the Communist yoke, (due) to your energy and generosity and those of your country."

Eisenhower, in replying, expressed hope for greater friendship and cooperation between Spain and the United States. He cited the Christmas celebration of the birth of Christ as "the season to rededicate ourselves to these timeless principles for which He gave His life."

Minsky, Burlesque Chain Owner, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Herbert Kay Minsky, 68, one of the Minsky brothers who once owned a coast-to-coast chain of burlesque houses died Monday night.

Minsky, who had been ill several months with a heart ailment, died shortly after being admitted to University Hospital.

A graduate of the Columbia University Law School, Minsky in 1912 joined his brothers Abe, Billy and Morton in building a nationwide chain of 14 burlesque houses.

The last of the Minsky striptease theaters was closed here by New York Mayor Fiorello La Guardia in 1937.

The Minskys were credited with the discovery of such stars as Gypsy Rose Lee, Phil Silvers, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, Red Buttons and Pinky Lee.

NAGOYA, Japan (AP) — U.S. forces played Santa Claus today for more than 5,000 children in this central Japanese city devastated by a typhoon last September.

A caravan of U.S. Army and Navy trucks toured day nurseries and kindergartens, and American servicemen distributed toys and other gifts collected by U.S. servicemen in a "Toys for Tots" campaign throughout Japan.

Thirty Americans also passed out well filled stockings and toys to beaming children at a ceding department store.

Patrol Estimates Holiday Toll at 55

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Patrol estimated today that 55 motorists will die in Ohio traffic accidents over the Christmas and New Year weekends.

Supt. Scott B. Radcliffe warned that traffic offenders will be cited for court in an attempt to keep accidents at a minimum.

Last year, when Christmas and New Year's Day fell on Thursday, traffic fatalities for the two weekends totaled 51. Eleven were killed on Christmas Day.

Director J. Grant Keys of the Highway Safety Department said fatalities this year might exceed those of the 1958 holiday period because of heavier travel.

Man Bound Over On Burglary Charge

LISBON — Roy F. Johnson Jr., 21, Middleton, pleaded guilty to a Nov. 13 burglary Monday before Judge Earl Spalding in Eastern District Court at East Palestine and was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bond. He is in the county jail.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said Johnson and a 16-year-old Leetonia boy broke into a building at Kelly's Park Roller Rink east of Leetonia and took an acetylene burning outfit, a paint spraying outfit and an electric saw.

The juvenile appeared yesterday before Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin and was ordered sent to Boys Industrial School, Lancaster, for an indefinite period.

Deputies apprehended the two last week after they attempted to sell the burning outfit. All the stolen material was recovered.

Woman Hiker On Last Lap of 373-Mile Walk

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Barbara Moore still trudged painfully down the road from Edinburgh today but said blisters would prevent her celebrating her 56th birthday in London.

The lean, Russian-born dietitian set off before dawn on the last 110-mile stretch of her 373-mile walk.

"I shall not be able to make London today. I had hoped to, for today is my 56th birthday."

Now the woman who claims she has the vigor, stamina and endurance of a man of 24 hopes to reach the capital by noon Wednesday.

Courthouse Group Has Christmas Service

LISBON — Courthouse office holders and their help had a Christmas service Monday afternoon by the tree in the lobby.

Ann Nicolette Crowned Queen At Leetonia Snowball Dance

LEETONIA — The annual Snowball Prom sponsored by the Leetonia High School Tri-Hi-Y Club was held at Orchard Hill School Saturday evening with more than 150 in attendance.

Miss Ann Nicolette daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Guy Nicolette, was crowned 1959 Snowball Queen by Miss Kathryn Bailey, last year's queen.

Miss Nicolette was escorted to the throne by Larry Holloway.

The queen's attendants were: Senior attendant, Miss Norma Shade, escorted by Bob Johns; junior attendant, Miss Karen Carney, escorted by Bob Gullett; sophomore attendant, Miss Karen Miller, escorted by Joe Gallo.

Miss Bailey's escort was Dwaine Bricker and Miss Linda Calvin was toastmistress for the evening. Music for the dancing was provided over by Disc Jockey Frank Sweeney.

SECOND ANNUAL cooperative workshop of four area school districts has been scheduled for Feb. 26 in Leetonia High School.

The meeting for educators from Columbiana, Leetonia, Lisbon and East Palestine school districts will consist of discussion groups, a panel of experts, and a speaker as an authority in each field. Work will be in the fields of improved reading methods, psychology of learning as related to classroom instruction, and audio-visual materials and their use.

HARMONY CLASS of the Methodist Church held their Christmas party Sunday evening at the home of Richard and June Kyser with 17 members present.

The following officers were elect-

Charles Kennedy Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Devere Seaman and son of Buffalo, N.Y., were recent guests of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Haller and son.

Mrs. George Wire and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leonard Jr. and family were dinner guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leonard Sr.

Pfc. John Gabriel, son of Mrs. Concetta Gabriel, 68 Elm St., is serving as a security guard in the Headquarters Company of the 2nd Infantry Regiment, 24th Division, at Augsburg, Germany. He arrived overseas last January. His wife, Joyce, resides in Ravenna.

Better Call In the Psychologists

France's President De Gaulle would resent being thought of as a problem in psychology, though that is what he is in fact. Every national leader is a psychological problem in some degree.

In fact, the art of diplomacy in the past has been to satisfy the psychological needs of the heads of government, with a view to keeping them from taking attitudes of beligerency.

It may well be that President Eisenhower's tour of key spots is nothing more or less than the application of proved principles of psychological persuasion to some of the concrete problems of international relations.

The late John Foster Dulles when he was secretary of state used the mechanistic approach, presenting his case like a corporation lawyer with a carefully prepared brief. He was tireless in his efforts and inexorable in his logic.

Among other legalistic thinkers, Mrs. Dulles made a tremendous impact. But not all leaders are inclined to think like legalists. Not all of them subscribe to the philosophy of mechanism—that there are absolute rights and absolute wrongs and the world can be trimmed like a ship, by shifting the rights and wrongs to achieve perfect balance.

PRESIDENT De GAULLE is decidedly not a problem in mechanistic thinking. He is a challenge to psychologists, not legalists.

What he is openly trying to do for France is restore its spirit, which is a project in the emotional aspects of nationalism.

The President of France is, himself, a politician dedicated to the doctrine that French pride, even to the point of arrogance, is a more important asset than an unimpeachable record of carrying out obligations to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, for example.

If it had been presented to President De Gaulle that the stature of France would be enhanced by performing certain acts, instead of its having been presented to him that he should knuckle under to the criticism of other nations dissatisfied with France's role, the atmosphere at this month's critical NATO meeting might be more harmonious than it is.

THIS IS NOT an easy thing for Americans to understand—that there are times when they cannot afford to be 100 per cent right at the expense of making others seem to be 100 per cent wrong.

All nations have pride. All national leaders are expected to give voice to national pride. Charles De Gaulle's destiny as a Frenchman, he believes, is to restore the pride and the glory that France frittered away during half a generation of inept political leadership that doomed its government to weakness and confusion.

The problem, if there is going to be one, calls for the skill of psychologists, not the cut-and-dried admonitions and threats of legalists who try to turn every relationship into a contract.

The United States, which has had reason in the past to be grateful for French nationalism and French pride, can afford to be generous in its approach to what otherwise would look like violation of a contract.

New Approach to Mental Hospitals

Jaw W. Collins, Gov. DiSalle's chief adviser on improving Ohio's mental hospitals, is keeping the fires burning under officials responsible for the program by issuing periodic reports on their progress.

His latest is typical. It compliments the Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections for advances in 10 areas but slaps hard at other fields ripe for development. It sums up Mr. Collins' view of the total picture thus: "Our improvement program is in gear, but the vehicle needs some help in the steering."

Mr. Collins probably is not winning friends among department administrators in Columbus and at the hospitals, and he may not care. But before he is roundly condemned, it should be realized that he may have a two-fold purpose.

GOV. DISALLE has been trying to emphasize that the responsibility for improving the program does not rest solely with those on the state payroll. It rests on the citizens of Ohio, too.

Preserve the Fair

A Youngstown Chamber of Commerce group has suggested that the Mahoning County Fair be made more than just a "pumpkin, cattle and pig show."

We join a fellow editor in protesting any attempt to minimize the agricultural flavor of the popular fair at Canfield. County fairs were founded on pumpkins, cattle and pigs—so-to-speak—and if they are ever relegated to a minor role by industrial and commerce exhibits, a fine American institution is threatened.

With an oink, oink here and a cackle here and there, and a moo and a bawl we're bound to have a real country fair, not to mention the fancy sewing displays of the grange ladies and their quart jars of good things to eat. Let's keep it that way.

Once Over

"Are you all set for Santa Claus?" we asked Skeptical Sammy, the kid who misses no "westerns." "Who?" he asked.

"Paladin?" he inquired.

"No. The fellow who gets millions of letters, is always smiling no matter how tough the situation and never fails to triumph over all obstacles?"

"Wyatt Earp," Sammy snapped.

"Think hard. Who is the hero who fears nothing, gallops around at terrific speed and is never stopped by floods, washouts, sharp curves around the mountain or blown-up bridges?"

"You're thinking of John Payne," said the lad.

"Now listen," we argued. "Who does the impossible year after year?"

"It's James Arness or Dale Robertson," was the answer.

It was pretty exasperating but we continued. "Concentrate, please. Who makes glad the heart of children everywhere with his perilous travels over long and dangerous trails, alone but fearlessly carrying out what he sets out to do in the nick of time?"

Sammy's eyes brightened. "You're talking about Wagon Train," he smiled.

We decided on one more try. "You've heard of Scrooge, the scheming money-mad villain who hates children, robs his own partners and is nice to nobody, haven't you?" we asked.

"The name is familiar but I don't recall the program," said Sammy. "Now then who is the famous man who cuts Scrooge off at the crossroads, shows him up as a no-good stinker and leaves him in such shape that he reforms and becomes a big-hearted fellow who gives candy canes to kids?"

"Oh, that came fellow! Bat Masterson," said Sammy with finality.

If It Aint a Candidate, What Is It?

Labor Goes Abroad

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A situation has developed in the American-owned merchant marine registered abroad which raises a pertinent question about all American-owned industries abroad.

If American capital chooses to build industries in other countries to equalize labor costs in foreign markets, will it be inevitable that the big unions will seek to follow?

An essential feature of capitalism is that it is international. A perfectly free market would have no tariffs, no quotas and no exchange controls.

Goods and capital would recognize no international boundaries. Why, then, should not labor move with equal freedom from country to country?

We have, of course, never had a perfectly free market and that is more true of labor than of capital.

But there is nothing except the laws of business prudence and of the various countries involved to prevent American capital from moving to set up industries in foreign countries and with foreign labor.

Never in our history have so many American companies with their capital and managerial skills established subsidiaries in foreign countries.

A CONSIDERABLE PART of the reason for this migration is the excessive cost of labor in the United States, which makes almost impossible the export of a growing number of our products. This is especially true in the maritime industry.

Largely because of the excessively high wages and benefits exacted by American maritime unions, American shipowners have been forced either to get a subsidy from our government or to register their ships abroad.

Hundreds of American-owned ships sail under the flags of Panama, Liberia, and Honduras and are in time of emergency or war committed to be bound over to the United States.

Only in this way can American-owned industrial carriers, not eligible for subsidies, compete with the shipping of countries whose seamen are getting a quarter or less the wages and benefits of their American counterparts.

Such ships are said by their owners to be registered under "flags of necessity," and by the bitterly resentful American maritime unions and by foreign competitors under "flags of convenience."

American maritime unions have now decided to follow the ships and incorporate in their jurisdiction the foreign crews of those foreign vessels.

The National Maritime Union and the Seafarers International Union, headed by Joseph Curran and Paul Hall respectively, have announced the formation of a jointly organized International Maritime Workers Union designed to represent in collective bargaining 70,000 seamen sailing on vessels "whose flags are foreign to the United States."

Enthusiastic predictions by these American unions have been that their membership might thus be increased by as much as 70 per cent.

OBSERVERS of this move have suggested that perhaps some time American unions in other industries may attempt to follow capital and endeavor to organize labor in American subsidiaries abroad. But before the union leaders indulge in such plans, they should follow the story of the Curran-Hall invasion.

The European unions have reason to worry about the matter. They may well ask themselves: "What have Curran, et al, done for us? What would this do to our preservers?"

If, for instance, the new American union seeks jurisdiction on Liberian ships now under contract to German unions, the owners are likely to move to the British flag. In that case, the German seamen will lose their jobs to British crews. Or Italians may lose their jobs to Norwegians.

In any event, the unions will find that capital can move from flag to flag with much greater speed than unionism. Unless perchance, "workers of the world" can unite.

In this instance, European unions have everything to lose and the power of American unions to face.

Economic Growth

By PETER EDSON

Here's How Two Parties Stand on Policy

Political differences between the policy statements of the Republican committee on program under Charles H. Percy and the Democratic Advisory Council under Paul Butler stand out clearly on the subject of economic growth.

It is impossible to condense the 50,000 words of these two platforms into a mere 500. But here are a few excerpts which show how the two parties' braintrusts tackle the problems of fiscal policy, taxes, agriculture and full employment.

FISCAL POLICY

DEMOCRATS: The first step in the restoration of a satisfactory rate of economic growth must be reversal of the Republican high-interest, tight-money policy which has been instrumental in producing economic stagnation, precipitating two recessions with accompanying heavy unemployment.

REPUBLICANS: We reject the idea that the Federal Reserve system should resort to a policy of loose money to make it easier for the Treasury to borrow. . . . If the Federal Reserve were to inflate the money supply in order to foster low, depression-level interest rates. . . . it might temporarily lower the Treasury's borrowing costs. But it would tend to drive up the price of everything else in the economy.

TAXES

DEMOCRATS: We believe the money can be provided . . . for full economic expansion . . . without deficit spending, even under existing tax rates, through four approaches:

First, end the waste in the expenditure side of the budget . . . second, collect the taxes which are owed the government . . . third, close loopholes in the tax laws . . . fourth, expand the economy.

REPUBLICANS: If our tax system is to achieve its goals over the long run, basic reforms must be undertaken which will substantially reduce rates and more equitably distribute the tax burden. . . . the most important goal of any tax reform program must be to increase individual incentives by some reduction of personal income tax rates in all brackets . . . we favor some modest reduction in the overall corporate income tax rate . . . Congress should consider converting our present selective excise taxes, other than liquor and tobacco taxes, to a more broadly used tax . . . imposed at the manufacturers' level.

AGRICULTURE

DEMOCRATS: The probability will remain that supplies will overbalance total demand for some years to come . . .

Farmers deserve to be provided with programs which can be put into effect by the choice of a substantial majority of the producers . . . adjusting supplies to conform with needs.

These farmer-controlled programs should be accompanied by income supplements.

REPUBLICANS: The key elements of a forward-looking program for American agriculture are: an expanded, interim land retirement program, coupled with a "food for peace" plan to shrink accumulated surpluses; legislation permitting more realistic pricing, and thus greater freedom from production control . . . vigorous action to deal with the remaining pockets of rural poverty.

FULL EMPLOYMENT

DEMOCRATS: The volume of unemployment, even in times of relative prosperity, is intolerably high . . .

The area redevelopment bill, vetoed by the President in 1958, should be enacted into law . . .

For communities not in the depressed-area category, a dynamic, expanding economy is the basic solution to unemployment . . . programs of vocational training and retraining need to be stepped up.

REPUBLICANS: The committee favors the following action to create more job opportunities and reduce the impact of unemployment:

1. Technical and financial aid to areas of chronic unemployment in co-operation with state and local agencies. . . . 2. Training and retraining programs by private industry and government. . . . 3. Strengthening the federal-state job placement service. . . . 4. An adequate federal-state unemployment compensation program.

Featherbedding

By TRUMAN TWILL

These are days when men are searching their innermost souls for signs of wrong-doing so they can show remorse. It is getting to be like the testimonial stage of an old-time revival meeting.

Like, for instance, featherbedding. I have been peering inward to dredge up everything I might need to apologize for under this heading. Here is my confession about featherbedding. I am guilty.

I have spent a large part of my life doing unnecessary work and being paid for it.

When I worked for the ice company, I was dispatched routinely on Saturdays and the days before holidays to help out a driver whose route took him through that part of town where prohibition never was thought of seriously.

I remember that the driver's name was Bill and he was the happy-go-lucky type. He wore thick glasses, which always slipped down on his nose, but he had thick, curly hair, straight, white teeth and all in all he cut quite a figure in his blue wool shirt and leather pad.

Bill would let me lug in the 25-pound pieces for housewives who yelled from the porch, but he handled all the big chunks himself. I learned why one Saturday when we were trying to finish up before a storm struck. He let me handle a 75-pounder.

The big chunks were for the big ice boxes in which the sisters kept their home brew. When I lugged in this chunk, the place was full of amiable pots quaffing brew out of bottles. Naturally, they offered one to the ice man. I confess I never had drunk before. But I upended the bottle and poured it all down—the whole bomb. I guess it rained. I guess there was a storm. I was too busy trying to let the pressure out of my stomach to care.

The moral is clear. I was a featherbedder. My only real job was to make sure the horse got home if Bill couldn't.

When I was a timber hustler in a lumber yard, I was always being sent along on long trips. Here again, I was a dead-head, with no reason to be sitting there in the cab with the regular driver. Funny thing. His name was Bill, too. Long afterward I learned why I took all those long rides. Bill had a weakness for stronger stuff than home brew, but he wouldn't dare corrupt a young man of my obviously pristine condition. Not when my old man was his boss. I was worth whatever it cost to cart me around the countryside to keep Bill from tying one on. He had connections, too. The big boss was his father-in-law.

Then there was the job in the clothing store. This stretches the imagination, but that featherbedder's name was Bill, too. He was a full-time hired hand of the brothers who owned the store and waited on most of the trade in the busy season. But summer, when I worked there, was not a busy season, and the brothers owned race horses.

My job was to make sure that Bill, who could have handled everything alone, did not fill his mouth with chewing tobacco. The brothers knew that Bill knew I would squeal on him if asked—and his tobacco-chewing was an obsession with him and them. They were feeding over it. Once they poured purple ink on a wet cud he had fingered out of his jaw when a customer came in . . . that was a mess.

Everything I've ever done has been on the edge of featherbedding—the time I helped paint things white on highways, the summer in the truck garden, the time in the summer camp. They didn't really need me. They got along fine before I came and fine after I left. But, as far as that's concerned, won't they all?

Featherbedding is in bad reput. But, like that other pesky stuff everybody is talking about, there's a lot of it going around; here, there and everywhere. Always has been.

WELCOME WAGON Club held its Christmas banquet recently in the Timberlakes with members of the Fifth Wheel Club as guests.

A Christmas play, "By Line for St. Luke," was presented under the direction of Mrs. John Edwards. The cast included Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Carlton, Mrs. Jerry Colaizzi, Willard Stamp, Mrs. Elton Newman and Mr. and Mrs. Jon Zeigler.

Carol singing was enjoyed to the accompaniment of organ music, and gifts were distributed by Mr. and Mrs. Santa.

Mrs. Vesta King, club adviser, received a corsage from the group, as a special prize, she was awarded the Christmas centerpiece which decorated the table.

There will be a Newcomers Club board meeting Jan. 13 in the Edwards home, 1170 E. State St.

CORONET CLUB members met recently in the home of Mrs. George Thomas of Perry St. for a Christmas party and election of officers.

The newly elected officers are: President, Mrs. Robert Lutz; vice president, Mrs. Roy McMillan; and recording secretary, Mrs. Hattie Cameron.

Secret pals were revealed when gifts were exchanged, and new pals were chosen for the coming year.

Prizes in the "500" games went to Mrs. Lutz, Mrs. Russell Doyle and Mrs. Larry Lottman, who was welcomed as a new member.

Lunch was served by the hostess. The home was decorated throughout in the holiday motif, and miniature Christmas trees were favors for the guests.

Mrs. Lutz will be hostess at the Jan. 7 meeting.

The club recently dined at Johnny Garneau's Smorgasbord near North Lima and afterward enjoyed a show in Youngstown.

STUDENTS in the fifth through eighth grades at St. Paul's School and the teachers enjoyed a Christmas program Friday afternoon presented by vocal students of Mrs. Esther Odoran. Those taking part are students at St. Paul's.

The program included: "A Most Unusual Day" and "Alice Blue Gown" by Donna Galchick; "Winter Wonderland" by Frances Ruse; "Galway Bay" and "An Irish Lullaby" by Charles and Gerald Gouvin.

"It's a Happy Day," by Lynn Ray; "Ave Maria" and "Brahm's Cradle Song" by Sharon Scott; "A Dream Is a Wish" and "Red, Red Robin" by Janet Galchick; "Liebestraume Polka" and "Silent Night" (in German) by Donna Galchick and Charles and Gerald Gouvin; "O Holy Night" and "Shadows" by Donna Galchick.

Mrs. Lloyd Scott served as mistress of ceremonies.

Santa Claus made a visit, after which the group sang "Jingle Bells."

SALEM GOLF CLUB was the scene of a Christmas dinner party for a group of bridge associates Saturday night. Husbands were guests.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hackett, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hannon, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Hurray, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace King, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Ospeck, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sabol, and Dr. and Mrs. Harley Thayer.

The table was decorated with a large three-tiered golden fountain surrounded with golden balls and pine cones. Smaller golden balls in long chains were entwined among the holiday greens running the length of the table. White tapers in golden candle holders completed the holiday theme.

Gifts were exchanged, and later, the group was entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Thayer at their N. Ellsworth Ave. home.

NEW OFFICERS were elected when the Chatterettes Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Wilbur Entriaken of Franklin Square.

The newly elected officers are: President, Mrs. Harry Wickline; secretary, Mrs. Walter Hartman; and treasurer, Mrs. Bernin McKinley.

Club prizes went to Mrs. Clyde Dotson and Mrs. Stanley Katano. An exchange of Christmas gifts was held. Secret pals were revealed and new ones were chosen.

Mrs. McKinley assisted the hostess when refreshments were served.

The Jan. 19 meeting will be in the Katano home on Newgarden Ave.

THE FORUM CLASS of the United Presbyterian Church held its family Christmas party recently in the Fellowship Hall of the church with 70 in attendance.

Raymond Stiver gave the invocation at the coverdish dinner preceding the program. The tables were gay with Christmas centerpieces and individual favors of candy wafers made up as red candles.

Wesley Houser, president, presided at the business session when donations were taken for a Christmas gift to be sent to Haines House at Haines, Alaska.

Mrs. Norman Pim and Mr. Houser made the arrangements for the program.

The Salem Girl Scout Choir, directed by Mrs. Raymond Stiver, presented a program of Christmas music.

The Salem Short Aires composed of Dick Dougherty, Bob Zimmerman, John Dawson and David Freshley, sang a number of selections.

A Christmas poem was read by Mrs. Louis Weirick, and Louis Weirick read the Christmas story from the gospel of Luke, giving a background of present day conditions at the locale of Christ's birth. The group sang "Silent Night" in closing.

The general committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Houser, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Powell Schmauch.

MISS DOROTHY POZNIKO, the daughter of Mrs. Julia Pozniko of 1721 N. Lincoln Ave., appeared on the recent program at the Debut Concert of the Don Currie Choral at the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts in Detroit.

Miss Pozniko presented a piano "Chromatic Fantasy" by Bach. As accompanist of the group and a member of the mezzo soprano section, she participated in the program which concluded compositions ranging from early choral works to modern music.

A graduate of Salem High School, Miss Pozniko was valedictorian of the Class of 1952. She received a bachelor of music degree and a master of music degree (piano major) from Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., in 1957.

A former teacher of piano and organ at Linden Hall Junior College in Lititz, Pa., she is now associated with Marygrove College in Detroit.

BINGOETTES held their annual Christmas dinner at the Timberlakes recently and then went to the home of Mrs. Carl Neely of Monroe St. for a gift exchange.

Secret pals names were received for the coming year, when the club will meet every three weeks. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Jan. 12 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Daniel Griffiths of N. Lincoln Ave.

PATIENTS AND EMPLOYEES of the Valley Nursing Home in Damascus were entertained at a Christmas party Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Donohue. Carols were sung and Santa distributed gifts to all. The holiday motif was carried out in the refreshments served.

MRS. JOHN BUSH was a guest when the Chardares Club was entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. John Horn of Benton Road.

A birthday gift was presented to Mrs. Don Diamond. Game prizes were won by Mrs. Richard Helmick, Mrs. Donald Boughton, and Mrs. Diamond.

A centerpiece of pine and a red candle graced the refreshment table when the hostess served lunch. Mrs. Helmick of Roosevelt St. will be hostess at the Jan. 14 meeting.

NINE MEMBERS of the Skat-R Club enjoyed their annual Christmas

Betrothal Announced

Miss Patricia Gail Strojek

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Strojek of 1123 E. 9th St. announce the engagement of his sister, Miss Patricia Gail Strojek, to Russell Wade Greenstein Jr.

Miss Strojek is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Strojek of S. Union Ave. Mr. Greenstein's parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Greenstein Sr. of Georgetown Road.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Salem High School, Class of 1959, and is employed by the Church Budget Envelope Co. Her fiancé who was graduated from Salem High School, Class of 1957, is an employee at the Kelly Sohio Station.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Presbyterian Church Units Hold Christmas Programs

Various groups of the Women's Association of the United Presbyterian Church held recent meetings featuring Christmas devotions and programs.

Reports of the several groups follow:

May
Mrs. E. S. Vincent was hostess to the May Group at her home on E. 3rd St. Mrs. Andrew Vaughn was associate hostess. The home was decorated throughout in the Christmas motif, and Mrs. Vincent and Mrs. Vaughn served a dessert lunch to the group.

October
Miss Sara Walker, devotional leader, was assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Stewart.

Mrs. Roy Ramsey read a paper on Cuba and Mrs. J. C. Potliff gave a paper on "Gardens of the Bible."

Piano accompaniment for carol singing was played by Mrs. Robert Boyd.

The group presented gifts to Mrs. Vincent and Mrs. Nicholas Costa.

Mrs. Helen Kenreigh was hostess to members of the October Group at a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Rolin Herron of Fair Ave. Mrs. James Hollinger, co-hostess, presided at the coffee service. Mrs. Bruce Milligan and Mrs. Herron were honored guests.

Advent candles were lighted, carols were sung, and gifts were exchanged.

The Christmas program, based on excerpts from scripture from Matthew and Luke, was presented by Mrs. Powell Schmauch.

Mrs. Charles Corbett and Mrs. William McKay were commended for their service to the group as co-chairmen.

June and December
The June and December Groups held a joint meeting in the home of Miss Elma Auld of E. 7th St. Mrs. G. W. Smith of the December Group presided.

Mrs. Robert Davis told a Christmas story and played recordings of Christmas music.

Mrs. George Hawkins talked of the meaning of Christmas to the individual.

Mrs. H. H. Wilkinson, Mrs. Gilbert Edgerton and Mrs. Floyd Stamp assisted Miss Auld at the social hour. Christmas decorations prevailed throughout the home.

July
"The Ragged Cloak and Granny's Bible Cake" was the program topic presented by Mrs. Ralph Woods when the July Group gathered in the home of Mrs. Philip Stevens of the Salem Country Club.

Mrs. Stevens presided at the business session, and devotions were conducted by Mrs. Robert Dunn. Her theme was "On Goes the Gospel."

The hostess and Mrs. Edward Bozich served refreshments.

March, August, September
Thirty-five members of the March, August and September Groups met at the church for a coverdish supper.

The hostesses were Mrs. Carl Wright, Mrs. Robert Culler, Mrs. Howard Schaefer, Mrs. Clyde McFeely, Mrs. Harmon Handwork and Mrs. Raymond Stiver.

Mrs. Ralph Johnson was in charge of the devotions.

The program featured Mrs. Jesse Potliff who showed slides of her trip to Alaska.

November Group
Mrs. F. P. Leimbach was featured on the program when the November Group met at the home of Mrs. Maurice Sadler of E. 6th St. She also assisted the hostess at the dessert luncheon attended by 10 members.

Christmas appointments were used, and the home was decorated in keeping with the holiday season.

Mrs. Harry Snyder was devotional chairman. Her topic was "On Goes the Gospel."

Members brought food for a needy family.

Mrs. Leimbach highlighted her program by telling how the village churches became federated in her home town of North Jackson. The Federation was formed from the Christian, Reformed and Presbyterian Churches in 1929, and was the first Federated Church in the state of Ohio and one of the very first in the US.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale wrote of this particular church when Louis Raymond, a Salem resident, was minister of the church. Before Mr. Raymond's pastorate, the Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Wyker were the second ministers of the church. The Wykers were both ordained ministers and were known throughout the country.

Pat Wykoff, daughter of H. F. Wykoff of E. 9th St., is a member of the cappella choir of High Point, N.C. College now touring Virginia, Maryland, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey and Washington, D.C.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Mark well the beginning of the passing of John Lewellyn Lewis for it marks the beginning of the end of all barons of labor. Mr. Lewis bowed not to the grayness of age but to the redness of the tape of the new reform law. It cuts deeply and bleeds the power of the famed veterans of one-man leadership of giant unions.

Mr. Lewis recognized that his era had passed when he read the small type in the law which made him answerable to some Labor Department clerk. Lewis and men like him no longer can operate as they did by unanimous fiat which would move hundreds of thousands of men into action.

John L. who spoke of himself in the third person as "Mr. Lewis" was the Mine Workers Union and the union was "Mr. Lewis."

He has made the decisions ever since 1921 when in Denver he was an unknown and ran against AFL president Samuel Gompers.

MR. LEWIS did not expect to win. But he expected that his daring to challenge the other giant would make him world famous. It did.

Now, almost 40 years later, the new reform law says that "Mr. Lewis," mover of millions, controller of a 50 million dollar treasury and one of the most powerful banks in Washington, must yield his power to the rank and file.

He must do this by giving the miners the right to vote in their own union—something most of them haven't had since the days "Mr. Lewis" defeated the powerful Socialist spokesmen in the splintered United Mine Workers of old.

To tie the union together and keep it a disciplined force, "Mr. Lewis" put most of the union's 29 districts under his personal receivership decades ago. He named the district officers. He virtually cast their votes single handed at each constitutional convention. Thus, though it is little known, "Mr. Lewis" always controlled directly more than 75 per cent of the miners' rank and file vote.

At least 18 of the 29 districts have been in trusteeship from the days of Calvin Coolidge. And when "Mr. Lewis" launched his famous catchall District 50, he put this generative little labor federation under his brother Denny.

NOW MR. LEWIS must give all this up. That's what Title Three of the Labor Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 says quite plainly.

There is more than yielding this control. The miners' chief must file regular reports down to the last nickel spent by his trusted districts. To him this is an indignity.

Some of us saw him walk with deliberate funeral pace down the long San Francisco AFL convention auditorium in 1947, while hundreds of delegates watched in truly awed silence.

We knew he'd never submerge his power to new laws. That day he moved regally to the podium and told the delegates not to "smite the ox." They could not force him to recognize the then new Taft-Hartley law. He didn't.

But the 1959 law gives him no choice. It says every labor organization must file a list of its trusteeships, along with the "date the trusteeship was established; a detailed report of reason or reasons why the trusteeship was established; or why it has been continued; a statement of the extent to which members of the organization under trusteeship have any part in selecting delegates to represent them at union conventions or a other policy-making meetings; a statement of the extent to which members of the trusteeship organization take part in electing the officers of the labor organization which has assumed the trusteeship; a complete account of the financial status of the trusteeship organization of the time the trusteeship went into effect."

NO LONGER will union chiefs be able to suspend opposition leaders and take their locals from them—not for more than 18 months under the law. No longer will there be possible the ouster of opposition candidates from membership. No longer will national chiefs be able to shift large sums of money from one area to another or deprive locals of their share of the finances.

Thus, when the law's enforcement really starts rolling, so will the opposition inside each national labor organization.

To Mr. Lewis at 80 it was not so much a wearying prospect as a boring one. So he decided to be caretaker for a bit and then move on. Others will follow. They have passed through one era and are going out the other.

Father-Daughter Team Sought In Bold Theft

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives believe a father-daughter team may have pulled a bold $5,600 theft on a busy New York street Monday.

Catherine Bacon, 62, a bookkeeper, was carrying the money to a bank in a paper bag when a girl of about 8 snatched it from her and ran. Miss Bacon screamed. A passer-by caught the youngster.

There was a scuffle and the girl escaped, the sack falling to the sidewalk. Bills spilled out.

A man appeared and said: "Let me help you." He picked up the scattered money — then ran in the direction opposite to that taken by the girl.

He entered the Army last August and completed basic training at Fort Hood. The 18-year-old soldier is a 1959 graduate of Columbian High School.

She is survived by several nieces and nephews.

U.S., Canadian Scientists Send Rocket Into Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian and American scientists sent a four-stage rocket into space at Wallops Island, Va., today to record radio signals emanating from the stars.

The complicated rocket incorporated a new X248 engine as its fourth stage, and the experiment also was to test how this worked in the vacuum of space.

The rocket was set to reach a height of 560 miles. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration could not say immediately the exact height the rocket reached, but it apparently "went good." The rocket was in flight for about 18 minutes and came down in the Atlantic about 600 miles from the Virginia coastal island.

Radio signals produced by the stars—scientists call it galactic noise—are partly absorbed by the earth's ionosphere. In order to measure them accurately instruments must be sent above 450 miles.

The rocket's 48-pound payload carried a 3-megacycle radio receiver to collect the star signals. These were telemetered back to earth.

The launching vehicle was made up of an Honest John missile and two Nikes as well as the X248. The whole thing weighed 7,000 pounds at takeoff. NASA called the 48-foot compound vehicle a javelin.

Mother Finds Lost Son; She's Greatly Relieved; So Is Son

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — It happened in one of those stores that sell everything.

The harried mother was trying to complete her Christmas shopping. She had her 5-year-old son with her.

Mother was busy making a purchase. The boy kept tugging on her coat. Finally he stopped. Mother reached a decision, paid the clerk and collected her packages.

Where was the 5-year-old son? The harried mother frantically started searching. She found him in the department where bathroom fixtures are displayed. The mother gave a sigh of relief—so did the boy.

Cranberry Institute To Seek Damages

BOSTON (AP) — The National Cranberry Institute will seek federal government payments of 15 to 20 million dollars for damages the industry says it sustained through a Food and Drug Administration announcement last month.

The Food and Drug Administration's pre-Thanksgiving announcement that some berries were thought to have been contaminated by a weed killer caused heavy damage in the marketing of the 1959 crop, and may cause losses in the 1960 crop, Institute President Orrin Colley said Monday.

"Cranberry growers are asking the government for indemnification," Colley said, "because of the unprecedented action by Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming who deviated from accepted policies of his Food and Drug division and publicly singled out the cranberry industry at the peak of its marketing season without giving the industry opportunity to defend itself against the charges."

He made the announcement after a seven-hour meeting of industry representatives from Massachusetts, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Washington and Oregon.

Also in the offing are a revival of East-West disarmament negotiations, proposed by the West for March 15 in Geneva, and negotiations to unify the trade policies of the free world to meet the new Soviet economic challenge and at the same time minimize traditional trade rivalries among the Western Allies.

Gifts Distributed To Foster Children

LISBON — Columbiana County Welfare Department case workers will complete distribution of Christmas gifts Wednesday to 200 children in foster homes. One gift, however, was too big to carry. Most unusual request came from a boy who lives on a farm. He wants a calf to raise. It will be in the barn Christmas day.

Director Robert Bycroft said the generosity of organizations and individuals makes it possible for each of the children to get a fine present.

Gifts included record players, radios, sporting equipment, watches, clothes, dolls and toys of all kinds.

The foster children's Christmas fund has receipts of $1,900 or $300 over the goal. In addition, organizations and churches have furnished the department with a big supply of toys and clothing. Bycroft said these will be distributed to deserving families outside the foster home program.

Deaths, Funerals

Edward Carroll

LEETONIA — Edward A. Carroll, 65, of RD 2, Leetonia, died of a heart attack at 10:45 a.m. Monday at his residence.

Born April 29, 1894 he was the son of Michael and Anna Hull Carroll. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Midway Grange and Farm Bureau. A farmer, he had lived in this area all his life.

Surviving are his wife, the former Marie Cope, whom he married Feb. 22, 1939; a son, Jerry, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Floding of RD 2, Leetonia, and Mrs. Agnes Miller of Hubbard; and two brothers, William D. of RD 1, Leetonia and J. Charles of Sharon, Pa.

Services will be 2 p.m. Thursday at the Woods-Funeral Home. The Rev. T. P. Laughner of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will officiate. Burial will be in Lutheran Cemetery.

Friends may call Wednesday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

auto, were treated by a physician for minor injuries after a car driven by Helen Goerig, 39, of RD 1, Leetonia, struck their auto in the rear.

The Leetonia woman was arrested for driving without an operator's license and failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead following the accident on Rt. 164, about 1.5 miles north of Lisbon at 8:40 a.m. yesterday.

William Gbur, 26, of West Point was arrested for failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead after his auto struck the rear of a car operated by Louis Crawford, 62, of West Point on Rt. 30, just north of East Liverpool at 6:15 a.m.

Jack Moore, 21, of Salineville was arrested for being left of center after he lost control of his car on Rt. 164, about six miles south of Lisbon, and skidded into a guard rail about 11:30 a.m.

Cyrus Thomas, 59, of Wellsville was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital for bruises received when his car skidded and overturned on Rt. 7, about 1.5 miles north of Wellsville at 8:25 a.m. yesterday.

Trucks driven by Bobby Williams 25, of East Liverpool and Orlando Griffin, 52, of Warren sideswiped on Rt. 7, about four miles south of Rogers, at 11:45 a.m.

Two telephone poles were casualties of the winter weather mishaps. Norman Knodler, 18, of RD 1, Salem, was cited for reckless operation after he went off the right side of Rt. 14 in an attempt to avoid another car. He struck a utility pole just east of Salem at 3:10 p.m.

James Tingle, 19, of Boston St., Washingtonville, lost control of his auto while driving west on Alt. Rt. 14, just outside that village, skidded off the road and into a pole at 5:55 a.m.

City Hospital said today Mrs. Henry Parks of Elkton was being admitted for observation. She lost control of her car and it ran into a ditch, the hospital reported.

robes characteristic of the country. The president frequently extended his arms in greeting. When he did so, the crowd seemed almost to go wild with joy. It thundered approval when the President clasped his hands above his head in a gesture of friendship.

King Greets Eisenhower

Morocco's King, who wants more American aid but wants the U.S. to give up its bases here turned out to greet Eisenhower at the airport.

The dense crowds slowed the motorcade's progress, and the president was about a half hour behind schedule on the trip to the royal palace.

He was due to leave at 12 noon EST for Washington, bringing to an end a history-making journey which was a triumph for the President in most of the places he visited.

"We are very happy to greet you," said the King in a brief welcoming address in Arabic before they drove off to Casablanca for talks on Morocco's desire for more U.S. aid and a swift departure of American troops from Moroccan bases.

After a 5½-hour visit with King Mohammed V, Eisenhower was to take off for Washington. "We like Ike" signs bedecked the streets of Casablanca, which Eisenhower last visited in 1943 as a wartime general.

Tents of Moroccan tribesmen who came to hail the President dotted the plains southeast of the city. Mutton cooked over hundreds of campfires.

Tribal horsemen in brown burpees galloped in groups and fired their rifles skyward in traditional salute to visiting dignitaries.

Eisenhower flew from Madrid after discussing the world situation with Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco at breakfast in Franco's Pardo Palace. That was the windup of a visit that drew about a million Spaniards out in raw wind and a cold rain Monday to roar "Viva Ike."

Blanket of Snow Covers Northeast In Wake of Storm

By The Associated Press The first day of winter today found the Northeast shivering under a vast blanket of snow as deep as 10 inches in some spots. One death occurred during the snowstorm in a traffic accident at Sturbridge, Mass.

Travelers crept along treacherously icy highways. Schools closed in some areas. Emergency crews moved in quickly to keep traffic moving where possible. Some buses were trapped in the snow. Trains were late. Air traffic was slightly delayed.

Heavy winds whipped the snow across a region stretching from the Great Lakes east through Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and parts of New England. The Atlantic Coast in New Jersey and New York appeared hardest hit.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was expected to end tonight throughout the area.

In New York City, seven inches piled up before the snowfall ended.

All arteries into the city were clogged with traffic during the morning rush hour. The storm knocked out some subways and others were running late.

In Rockland County, N. Y., the snow was 10 inches deep in some spots. A number of schools closed in New York and New Jersey.

The storm covered virtually all of Pennsylvania to a depth of five inches in the western part of the state.

Several hundred cars were trapped several hours on Route 35 in New Jersey between Middletown and Red Bank. The stranded motorists included three pregnant women headed for hospitals. A doctor, also snowbound in the traffic snarl, attended them until emergency crews hurried them on to hospitals.

It was cold across most of the northern half of the country. The lowest readings — edging toward zero — were near the Canadian border from Minnesota to Maine.

Temperatures rose gradually south of the coldest weather, with readings in the teens from southern New England through Wisconsin.

Former State Rep. Jenkins Dies at 79

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former Republican Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, who for 34 years represented southern Ohio in the U.S. House of Representatives, died Monday night in a sanitarium in suburban Worthington. He was 79.

Jenkins, who was elected 17 consecutive times before retiring in 1958 because of a heart ailment, represented the eight counties of the 10th District. They include Lawrence, Jackson, Fairfield, Hocking, Vinton, Gallia, Meigs and Athens.

A native of Oak Hill in Jackson County, he was born Oct. 20, 1880. He worked in the coal mines of that area in his youth and taught school when he was still in his teens. In 1907 he was graduated from the Ohio State University Law School and immediately opened an office in Ironton which he maintained ever since.

After serving two terms as Lawrence County prosecutor Jenkins moved into state politics in 1922 when he was elected to the Ohio Senate.

Two years later he began his long tour in Washington. He had announced himself a candidate for an 18th term in 1958 but the heart ailment caused him to withdraw his name shortly before the May primary.

Even though he asked his constituents not to vote for him, Jenkins received 12,514 votes in the November 1958 election, only 618 less than Homer E. Abele, the unsuccessful GOP nominee.

He is survived by his widow, Mabel, and a sister, Miss Margaret Jenkins, of Cincinnati.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the First Methodist Church in Ironton. Baker Funeral Home in that community is handling the arrangements.

Bunker Hill Men's Group Holds Dinner

New officers were installed when the Methodist Men's Organization of Bunker Hill Church met on Mon. evening in Fellowship Hall at the church. Charter Night was observed.

The occasion marked the first anniversary of the group which meets the third Monday of each month.

Stu Wilson, radio and television personality on the staff at Youngstown WKBN and WKBN-TV, was guest speaker. He talked on the subject, "Flying Saucers."

The newly installed officers are: President, Chester Lucas; vice president, Robert Dickson; secretary-treasurer, Carson McNeely; chaplain, Richard Maurr; chairman of the social committee, Gary Greenamyer; and tail twister, Robert Maurer; news reporter Ray Weingart.

Norman Weingart, retiring president, who presided at the business session and installation ceremonies, received a past presidents pin.

New County 4-H Agent Is Approved

Joe Burger, 24, a native of Stark County, will be Columbiana County's next extension agent for 4-H work, subject to approval of Ohio State University's Board of Trustees.

His application was accepted by the County Extension Advisory Committee and the County 4-H Council Monday night in the extension office at Lisbon.

Burger took his apprentice training here in 1957 while a senior in the College of Agriculture at OSU. He has been 4-H agent at Hamilton, Butler County, for the past year. A replacement must be found for him before he comes here.

He was presented last night by C. A. Haas of Columbus, extension supervisor for northeastern Ohio.

Burger is unmarried. His parents operate a farm west of Alliance.

The county 4-H post has been vacant since Oct. 1 when Albert Pugh, extension agent for agriculture, went to Portage County. Agent Tony Myers, formerly in charge of 4-H work, assumed Pugh's duties.

The Story of the Carols

Joyous Carols Come from Many Pens

EDITOR'S NOTE: The words to "Joy to the World" were written by Isaac Watts in 1719. A century and a half later the music was added by a Massachusetts man. The intervening period was one of the most fruitful for carol writers. This is the second of three articles on how our Christmas carols were born.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Isaac Watts, often called the "Father of Hymnody," came into the world when Christmas carol singing was regarded as "ye work of ye devil."

It was the latter half of the 17th Century, a time of great religious upheaval in Europe. Calvin's insistence that "the Bible alone" be used in public worship had driven popular hymns out of many churches, particularly in England among the strict Puritan sects.

Instead of hymns, the congregation chanted selected passages from the Scriptures, usually the Psalms. The clerk intoned the first line in a monotone and the people, as Watts once complained, responded with "dull indifference."

Watts, one of nine children, was the son of a boarding house keeper and deacon of the Independent church who had twice gone to prison for his religious beliefs. As a boy, Isaac had stood with his mother outside the prison gates to sing hymns to his father and the other inmates. His parents managed somehow to scrape together enough money to encourage his love of music with piano lessons.

Challenged by Father

His career as a hymn writer began when he complained one day about the uninspired songs heard place in the world of religious music had already been pre-empted by Charles Wesley, brother of John Wesley, the founder of Methodism. The brothers went to America in 1735 as missionaries to the new colony at Georgia, where Charles was to be secretary to Gen. James Oglethorpe. Ill health forced him to return less than a year later, but he never forgot the marvelous singing of the German Moravian colonists. The Moravians, a devout sect who later moved to Pennsylvania, gave Charles Wesley the inspiration for his life work. He published his first hymns at Charleston, S.C., and was brought before the grand jury in Savannah for introducing "Unauthorized Hymns into the Worship."

As the "Poet Laureate of Methodism," he wrote more than 6,000 hymns, finding inspiration almost anywhere and writing with ease under the most difficult conditions. Once he fell off his horse while accompanying brother John on an evangelical mission and complained that the resulting injury "spoiled all my hymn writing for that day."

He dashed off "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" while walking to church on Christmas day and thrilling to the tumult of London's church bells. The first two lines, as originally written in 1739, were "Hark! How all the welkin rings Glory to the King of Kings."

A friend, the Rev. Martin Madan, altered the opening stanza in 1760 to the version we now know. For 100 years the carol was sung to the same tune as Wesley's Easter hymn, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," but in 1856 Dr. W. H. Cummings, organist at Waltham Abbey, fitted it to the music of Mendelssohn's "Festgesang."

Mendelssohn would have been as surprised as Wesley. He wrote the music to commemorate the 300th invention of printing and insisted it "never would do to sacred words."

Luther Wrote Carols

Martin Luther, the great German reformer, was also a prodigious author of Christmas carols, but it is doubted if he wrote "Away in a Manger," sometimes known as "Luther's Cradle Hymn." The carol, in the opinion of most authorities, originated among German Lutherans in Pennsylvania and was taken back to Germany in the 1840's.

But Luther, as poet Coleidge said, "did as much for the Reformation by his hymns as by his translation of the Bible." In addition to writing dozens of Christmas carols, Luther arranged and published "Good King Wenceslaus" and popularized "O Tannenbaum," the Christmas tree carol. According to legend, Luther was fascinated with the way the stars seemed to glisten in the tips of the pine trees while walking in the woods one Christmas Eve. He cut a small fir tree and set out candles for stars to recreate the scene for his small children.

When Watts died in 1748, his

He wrote "From Heaven Above to Earth I Come," his most famous carol, as a Christmas cradle song for his son Paul. Bach harmonized this song for his Christmas oratorio. German soldiers sang it in the trenches during a Christmas lull in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870. French soldiers responded with Adolphe Adam's "Canticle of Christmas," better known as "O Holy Night."

Adam, composer of the ballet "Giselle" and several operas, deserves a distinguished place among the makers of Christmas music. His "O Holy Night" with its magnificent "O Night Divine" refrain is by far the best loved of all the Christmas carols among professional musicians and has been sung by most of the world's great concert and opera stars.

TOMORROW: "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

The Fateful Fifties: Part 2

Film Industry Started To Panic as '50s Began

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After years of great prosperity, the film industry started to panic as the 1950s began.

Folks were beginning to stay away from movie theaters in large crowds. They had a new gadget in their living rooms—television. Imagine seeing pictures on a little box right in your own home!

Of course, what they saw was nothing special. It was largely visual radio with the best and worst of vaudeville thrown in. But the novelty was enough to intrigue a public that was fed up with the formula of the Hollywood product.

Within two years after bigtime TV came in, movie attendance had dropped one-third. Foreign receipts were up, but not enough to absorb the shock of the domestic decline. And much of the overseas money was frozen.

The studios were in trouble. There was a wave of layoffs and shutdowns. Then the industry found a new craze to put life back into the theaters — the third dimension.

It started on Sept. 30, 1952, with the New York debut of "This Is Cinerama." The new process aimed three projectors at a giant wraparound screen. It made viewers feel they were really riding the roller coaster they watched on the screen.

Two months later, a quickie called "Bwana Devil" opened in Hollywood. It was a sensation because it featured an almost-forgotten stunt of creating a three-dimensional effect by use of two screen images and polarized glasses.

Inspired by the interest in new screen dimensions, 20th Century-Fox boldly converted all its production to Cinerascope. The process used one camera and squeezed a wide-screen image onto normal-size film.

Parafount brought out VistaVision, Mike Todd came along with Todd-AO and other processes followed. They helped business, but still weren't enough to bring back Hollywood's oldtime economy.

The old regimes began to fall. Louis B. Mayer was eased out of MGM by his old foe, Nick Schenck. Then Schenck himself stepped out as president, and MGM had a bitter proxy fight. The Warner Brothers sold out to a combine headed by Serge Seneneko, though keeping production control.

One-man rule at Columbia ended when Harry Cohn died. Darryl Zanuck departed as boss of 20th-Fox and was succeeded by Buddy Adler. Howard Hughes gained full ownership of RKO, let it drift, then sold out to General Tire and Rubber Co. for 25 million.

The RKO sale broke the solid front against selling old films to TV. The firm's 740 features were poured into the TV market. Needing immediate assets to bolster their economies, the other major companies followed suit. They also began selling off real estate. U-I sold its vast lot to Music Corporation of America for 11 million, then leased back space for filming.

These measures helped restore black ink to the ledgers. But they were only stopgaps. Much more was needed to keep the studios on a paying basis.

Tomorrow: Hollywood's mistakes in the '50s.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago we lost our only daughter in a car accident. She was a beautiful girl, 18 and in college. Lee's closest friend was her cousin, Midge. They used to trade clothes back and forth regularly.

My husband and I felt Midge ought to have all Lee's lovely things as we couldn't bear to give them to strangers. A few weeks ago we packed everything and sent it to Midge's mother.

We learned yesterday all the clothes were given to a charity organization. The story was "they didn't fit."

We know this is not possible since the girls traded clothes for years. I feel like telling the whole bunch off. My husband says I shouldn't mention it. Your advice will be appreciated.—HURT.

Dear Hurt: Don't mention it. Midge probably couldn't bear to wear Lee's clothes because of the strong emotional ties. In my opinion the family did what was best for Midge.

Dear Ann: We've been married 23 years and our family is grown. Three years ago we bought a four-family apartment as an investment and hired a maintenance man. After two months my husband let the man go and said he could do the job in a few hours a day.

There turned out to be more work than he thought so he quit his steady job to do part-time TV repair work. Every day he goes to the roller skating rink with the young folks, to a movie or has a friendly game of cards with the firemen. I'm left to tend the furnace, wash windows, carry out the trash and take care of the tenants' complaints.

Last year I thought he'd show his appreciation by giving me a nice Christmas gift. He said "Merry Christmas" and gave me a peck on the cheek. If he does it again this year what shall I do? I think he's playing me for a fool.—TIRE.

Dear Tired: "Merry Christmas" indeed. Tell him "Happy Labor Day" and to get back to work at his steady job and hire a maintenance man because you just quit.

Any woman who would pinch-hit as a janitor for a four-family apartment while her husband goes roller skating and to the movies must have oatmeal where her brains belong.

Marvelous Shrimp

Dear Ann: I would like to say a word to Mrs. Experienced—the woman who is so miserable because she married "a homely little shrimp." And this goes for the thousands of women who secretly (and openly) feel they could have done better.

Could it be that SHE is on the homely side herself — maybe fat and sloppy? I'll bet if that little shrimp thought HE could have done better, he would have.

These women who let you know they married "beneath themselves" usually have a vastly exaggerated opinion of what they have to offer.

From what I've seen, they're lucky to have found a man who'd have them. No first-rate woman chops her husband down behind his back.—HAPPILY MARRIED TO A HOMELY BUT MARVELOUS LITTLE SHRIMP.

Dear Happily Married: To you words of wisdom I can add only, "Amen" and my thanks for having written.

Confidentially

CONFIDENTIAL: To all you teen-age gals who raised the roof because I said 15 was soon enough for nylons and heels: Okay, kids, times have changed—14 gets my blessings if you behave like ladies! (Haven't had so many teen-age blasts since I knocked Kookie!)

Suspicious of Son

Dear Ann: I'm having serious trouble with my 17-year-old son. He's been going with a lovely girl who is only 13. She's large for her age and quite grown-up in manner.

I have reason to believe they are more deeply involved than they should be. He's told me falsehoods about where they went for the evening and many incidents have occurred which have made me suspicious.

The girl's parents are separated and she lives with her grandparents. They can't do much about disciplining her. My son's father is dead and I've done my best to raise a large family. When I suggested he take out other girls he said I had no right to pick his friends. What can I do?—B.B.B.

Dear B.B.B.: You can get some outside help before you get a phone call from the grandmother telling you the girl is in trouble.

Your son should not be taking out a 13-year-old. If you can't get through to him ask the football coach, the school principal, your doctor, clergyman or an uncle to talk to him. And good luck—you need it, Mother.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifteen years ago today a U.S. brigadier general became the first soldier in history to win military immortality with a four-letter word.

The word was "Nuts!" and the man who said it—and later came to hate the word—now feels it changed his whole life.

This bit of American slang, delivered as a defiant reply to a German surrender demand, infuriated a Nazi army. It set the Allied world rocking with laughter and pride.

Today it is still the best remembered symbol of the greatest engagement fought by American troops in World War II—the Battle of the Bulge in Belgium.

The battle, personally planned by Adolf Hitler in a last-ditch gamble, began at 5 a.m. Dec. 16, 1944, with a bombardment by 1,900 German artillery pieces.

The Nazis, attacking with 250,000 troops and 1,000 tanks through the Allied "rest camp" area in the Ardennes, achieved complete tactical surprise.

The acting commander, Anthony (Old Crock) McAuliffe and the 101st Airborne Division were rushed by truck to Bastogne.

There, strongly supported by elements of the U.S. 9th and 10th Armored Divisions, McAuliffe held the vital Belgium road center against frantic German breakthrough efforts.

The enemy couldn't bypass him. They had to destroy his force to go on. And if they couldn't go on their cause was lost.

It was a bloody battle fought in a frigid hell. The U.S. forces cheerfully gave the map code name "Merry Christmas" to the 20-square mile area they held that blocked the gigantic German advance.

By Dec. 22, McAuliffe and his 10,000 men were surrounded by seven Nazi divisions and outnumbered four to one.

Through the morning gloom four German soldiers carrying a white flag trudged up to an outpost three miles south of Bastogne.

They carried a message which said in part: "The fortune of war is changing. There is only one possibility to save the encircled U.S.A. troops from total annihilation. That is the honorable surrender of the encircled town."

"If this proposal should be rejected, one German artillery corps and six heavy battalions are ready to annihilate the U.S.A. troops in and near Bastogne."

The four Germans, blindfolded by their own truce flag, were handed McAuliffe's quickly scrawled reply: "To the German commander Nuts! The American Commander."

When one of the Germans who spoke English complained he didn't understand the message, he was told it meant "go to hell."

He said he understood this, and the four were blindfolded again and led away.

The battle raged on for more than four days and four nights until an armored column from Gen. George Patton's 3rd broke through and lifted the siege.

"Old Crock," a square-jawed, 5-foot-5 soldier who weighed only 135 pounds, performed heroically before and after the Bastogne siege. After the war he rose steadily in the service until he retired in 1956 as a full general commanding the U.S. Army in Europe. He is now a vice president of the American Cyanamid Co.

Although over the years he had to tell the Bastogne story so often he shuddered when anyone at a cocktail party passed the nuts, he now is reconciled to the word "nuts!"

A modest man, he feels it was his spur-of-the-moment choice of this odd one-word classic answer that helped send him later up the Army ladder.

At the time of the Bastogne siege he wore a brigadier's star, but his permanent rank was that of colonel.

Last week, mellow, handsome and graying at 61, "Tony" McAuliffe philosophically told a reunion at the overseas Press Club here: "Except for the word 'nuts' I'd probably have been known only as a competent combat colonel. Sometimes you have to have more

County Legion Raps

Young For N.Y. Talk

Columbiana County Council of the American Legion has criticized Sen. Stephen M. Young (D) of Ohio in a letter expressing its "profound dissatisfaction" over Young's scheduled speech before the Emergency Civil Liberties Committee in New York.

The Hamilton Council of the Legion had criticized the Ohio Senator for speaking before a "subversive" group.

The Legion says the ECLC has been cited as a Communist front organization. It isn't on the attorney general's list of subversive groups.

A copy of the letter, signed by Adjutant L. Olan Samor, was sent to the Hamilton chapter which started the feud between the senator and Ohio Legion.

The local Council also told Young that if he wasn't in agreement with the Legion's beliefs, he could "relinquish" his Legion membership card.

Santa and the ICE KING

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Santa's attempt to make peace with the Sun Daughter and the Ice King failed miserably. In anger and shame, the Ice King is determined to go back to his castle to grind out more winter. (Chapter Fourteen)

ONE MORE TRY
"What will we do?" whispered Oonik as the sled flew away. "The Ice King will never stop making winter now."

"We'll make one more try," said Santa. "This one I think will do." "Who is she?" asked Oonik.

"The Ice Queen of the South," said Santa.

"I didn't know there was such a one!" exclaimed Oonik.

"Oh, yes," said Santa. "She lives at the South Pole where, I have heard, it is colder by far than at our home in the North."

The Ice King had buried his head in the polar bear's fur to hide his tears of shame and sorrow at being rejected by the Sun Daughter. As the reindeer sped towards the South Pole it grew colder and colder and the Ice King, thinking they were nearing home, raised his head and shouted gleefully, "I must have left my ice machine going full blast!"

THE SLED CAME DOWN before a palace of ice. "What is this?" cried the King. "This isn't my home."

"It is the South Pole," replied Santa. "The Ice Queen lives here. I have brought you to ask for her hand."

"Never!" roared the King. "I told you I would never humble myself again. Everyone hates me and I hate everyone and that's the end of that." And he threw himself down beside the polar bear and refused to budge an inch.

Santa left him there and went into the Ice Queen's palace. Now the Ice Queen's palace was just like the Ice King's castle. Everything was made of ice and far above Santa could hear the same grinding, clattering noise he had heard at the Kings home. Santa went up a winding icy staircase and found the Ice Queen energetically working her ice machines and pumping her wind bellows.

But this was as it should be for at the South Pole winter always came in June and July and August and when December, January and February came, the Ice Queen would stop her work for it would be summertime in her upside down world.

Santa had to holler to make himself heard over the noise. "I've brought you a suitor!" he bellowed.

THE ICE QUEEN stopped pounding and pumping. She turned and stared at Santa. She was tall and regal looking and she too had icicles in her hair and frost on her eyebrows.

"A suitor?" she exclaimed blushing. "What nonsense! Who would ever want to marry me?"

"He's in my sled," said Santa. "Come and see."

Picking up her icy skirts the Ice Queen rushed down the stairs and out to the sled. There was the Ice King sitting there with his back to her staring at his feet.

The Ice Queen walked in front of him and gazed at him worship-

"Fly with me to the North," said the Ice King.

fully. "Oh, no!" she whispered. "He's too wonderful for me!"

The Ice King raised his sullen eyes and when he saw her his heart turned over. He got out of the sled and took one step towards the Queen and then they both gulped and cried out, "Oh, would you marry me?"

THEY FELL in each other's arms and Oonik jumped up and down with joy and Keotuk barked and even the polar bear loaked pleased.

Then the Ice King said, "Fly with me now to my castle in the north."

But the Queen said, "I can't do that for it is wintertime at the South Pole and I must keep things cold."

The King looked crestfallen. "But, I can't stay here," he mumbled unhappily. "I am needed at the North Pole."

Santa burst into laughter. He laughed until the tears rolled down his cheeks.

"What is so funny?" demanded the Ice King.

"You!" cried Santa. "You've forgotten—it's August! It should be summer in the North and you're not needed or wanted there at all!"

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three thousand gallons of fuel oil were spilled into the intersection of Miller Road and Ohio 611 at Avon when a tank truck overturned early today.

Driver Richard De Mars of Canton said one of the double trailer cars jack-knifed as he applied brakes to make a right turn into Miller Road. He was uninjured.

The Avon Fire Department spent two hours washing the oil away and dumping absorbent sand into the area.

The truck is owned by the Ray Molder Carrier Corp. of Canton.

MAYOR TAKES UP FEUD

UHRICHSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Jess Dempster has flung another barricade across U.S. 36 and again is feuding with the Ohio Highway Department about maintenance of the road. Dempster said traffic would be detoured from the busy highway until someone other than the city removes a wrecked car wedged into a metal strip of a two-lane bridge and repairs the bridge.

In 1958 Mayor Dempster blocked off three highways through his city, including U.S. 36, until the streets were repaired by a $135,000 resurfacing project.

Ohio State's Third-Ranked Buckeyes Handed First Loss

Trampled by Utah 97-92

Lucas Wins Scoring Duel With McGill

By The Associated Press
Ohio State's third-ranked Buckeyes were handed their first defeat in seven games Monday night at Salt Lake City as the Utah Redskins, No. 6 choice in the nation, came off with a 97-92 victory.

Big Jerry Lucas retained some of the Ohio glory as he won the heralded sophomore scoring duel with Utah's 6-foot-9 Billy McGill. The 6-8 Lucas tallied 32 points, one more than McGill.

The Redskins, who notched their seventh in a row without a defeat, ran up a 10-point lead early and held it through much of the first half, which ended 49-44.

Utah opened an even wider margin in the second half and appeared headed for an easy win until Lucas, Larry Siegfried and Joe Roberts teamed up to trim the gap to two points, 77-75, with a little more than five minutes left.

The Redskins, however, added a little to the lead and then started freezing the ball.

Ohio teams broke even in a big doubleheader at Fort Wayne, Ind. Miami of Florida won its first game from Miami of Ohio in four tries, dumping the Oxford Redskins 83-78 in the opener, and Xavier nipped The Citadel 94-91 in the finale.

The holiday show was set up because all four teams have players from the Fort Wayne area.

Although it was a neutral floor for all of the teams, the high-point man for the night felt right at home. The Florida school's little (5-foot-6) Dick Hickox, who played on the coliseum court while attending Fort Wayne North Side High School, poured in 28 points to lead the Hurricanes to their win. Vern Lawson had 20 to top the Redskins (2-5).

Xavier, beaten only once in six starts, never had a comfortable lead over The Citadel and trailed 47-46 at the half. Jack Thobe paced Musketeer scoring with 24 points. Art Musselman, another Hoosier, had an equal total for the losers, who feature a raft of Ohio-bred players too.

In the only other games on the Ohio card, Akron, hitting on 56 per cent of its shots from the field, swamped Kent State 93-68, and Transylvania of Lexington, Ky., weathered a late Ohio Wesleyan rally to edge the Bishops 73-71.

Horvath's Hockey Lead Shrinking

MONTREAL (AP)—Bronco Horvath's once-mighty lead in the National Hockey League scoring race all but disappeared last week as the big guns of other teams lined up behind him at one-point intervals.

Official scoring statistics released today showed the Boston Bruins' center still on top with 21 goals—tops in that department—and 18 assists for 39 points.

One point behind was the Chicago Black Hawks' Bobby Hull, who collected four goals and two assists in his team's three games last week to raise his total to 19-13-32. The spurge lifted him out of a fourth-place tie.

Horvath played in both Boston games but suffered through his first pointless week of the season. In front since Nov. 3, he held seven-point leads at two different stages.

Andy Bathgate, of New York, second a week ago, scored a goal and two assists but dropped to third with 37 points on 13 goals and a league-leading total of 24 assists.

The Montreal Canadiens' Jean Beliveau held on to fourth place with two goals and two assists to bring his record to 18-18-36.

Smallest output among Horvath's main challengers was produced by Detroit Red Wings' Gordie Howe, a five-time scoring champion. Howe collected two assists and fell from third to fifth with 15-20-35.5.

50 Horses Nominated For Hialeah Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fifty thoroughbreds, headed by champion Sword Dancer, have been nominated for the $100,000 added Widener Handicap at Hialeah Feb. 20.

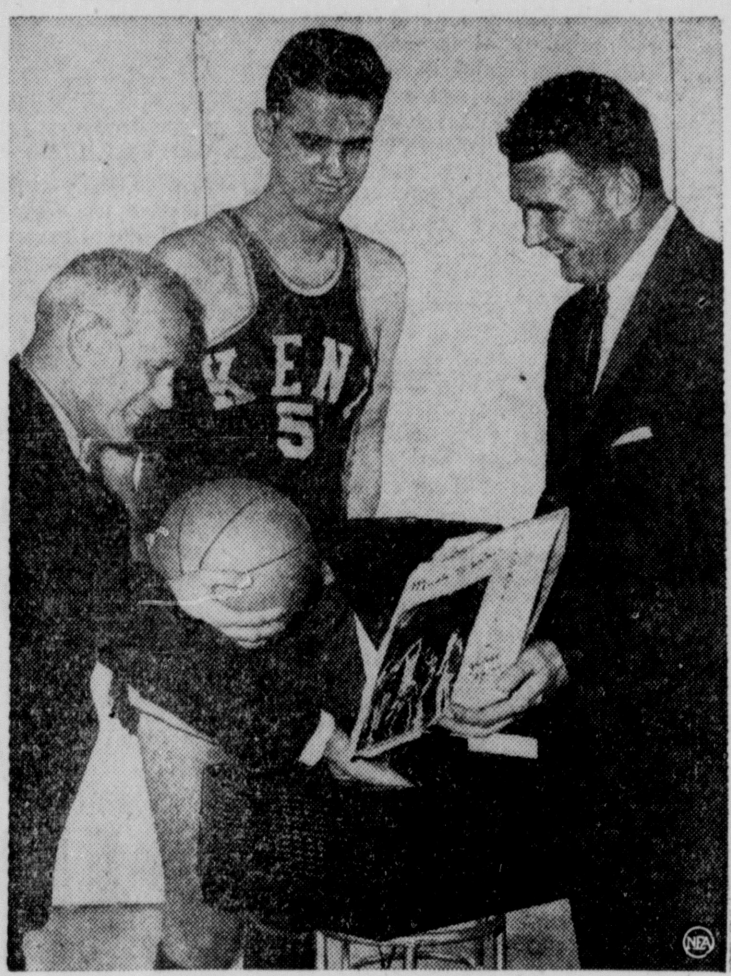

The 23rd running of the winter's first hundred grand handicap drew 24 foreign-breds, representing England, Ireland, France, Argentina, Venezuela, New Zealand and Australia. The race is at a mile and a quarter.

Sword Dancer, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable star, was champion 3-year-old in 1959 when he won $337,004. He won six stakes and is now in training at Hialeah.

Other standout American horses nominated include Bald Eagle, Easy Spur, Terra Firma, Talent Show, Duncie, On-and-On, Air Pilot, Open View, and Royal Orbit.

Only Unbeaten Team In Big Ten

Illinois Goes Into Overtime To Defeat Oklahoma 60-57

By The Associated Press
Illinois remains the Big Ten's only undefeated basketball team after Monday night's hazardous run-in with opposition from the west.

High-flying Ohio State and defending champion Michigan State were dropped from the ranks of the unbeaten while Minnesota, Michigan and Northwestern also were sidetracked in intersectional play.

Illinois had to go into overtime to defeat Oklahoma, 60-57, and Wisconsin nipped Stanford, 61-60 to record the only two victories for Big Ten teams in seven games. Both triumphs came on home courts.

Ohio State suffered its first loss in seven games by yielding to Utah, 97-92; Michigan State was bumped by Brigham Young, 79-75, and Northwestern was defeated by Washington, 79-60.

Although these three losses were suffered on the road, the home floor advantage didn't do Minnesota and Michigan any good. UCLA tripped Minnesota, 73-72, and Denver rode over Michigan, 71-65.

It all added up to the worst Big Ten teams have had this season.

Illinois, the nation's 10th-ranked team, had to come from far behind in the final minutes to catch the Sooners and force the game into overtime. Al Gonsell's basket tied the score at 47-all in regulation time and Ed Perry, who had led the game-tying rally, put the Illini ahead in the overtime period. The victory was Illinois' fifth straight.

Four points in the final 34 seconds by Gary Ernest helped Brigham Young—which is host to Ohio State tonight—stop Michigan State after four straight victories. Ernest led all scorers with 21 points. Horace Walker was high for MSU with 20.

The weatherman predicts a dry field, and there is no doubt the Colts fans will be on hand. Beside some 40,000 season ticket holders, 3,000 faithful stood in line most of Sunday night to goggle up 6,000 general admission tickets Monday morning. The rest of the tickets—some 11,000—went to the Giants and other league teams.

Pirates Swap Kline For Cimoli, Cheney

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fans took a second look today at the Pittsburgh Pirates swap of a front line pitcher to the St. Louis Cardinals for a line-drive hitting outfielder and an unproven hurler and wondered if there's more to come.

Joe L. Brown, Pirate general manager, interrupted a Florida vacation Monday to trade right-hander Ron Kline for outfielder Gino Cimoli and pitcher Tom Cheney.

It was the first major player deal involving the Pirates since the 1959 season. It didn't produce the long ball hitter Pirate officials say is needed for the club to improve its 1959 fourth place finish.

Kline, from Callery, Pa., won 14 and lost 18 in 1956. Last season he posted an 11-13 record, losing several games by one run decisions.

Cimoli, a San Francisco resident, has never realized a .300 batting average since breaking into the majors in 1956.

Cimoli's best year was a .293 average in 1957. Last year he hit .279.

Cheney, of Morgan, Ga., spent most of last season in the minor league at Omaha. He posted a 5-6 record there. After being called up by the Cardinals late in the season he lost his only decision while appearing in 11 games.

J-M Ace Has Scored 123 Points

Inter-County Pace Set by Jim Reeves

Jim Reeves of Jackson-Milton continued his torrid scoring pace last week to stretch his lead over the top point-getters in the Inter-County League.

The 6-4 senior pivot man hit for 29 points against Youngstown North and 26 against Austintown Fitch to run his five-game total to 123.

His average is 24.6 points per game.

McDonald's Frank Terlecki moved into the number two spot on the strength of a 26-point spurge against Mineral Ridge on Saturday. McDonald, which has a 4-2 record, has all five of its starters among the top 20 scorers in the league. The Blue Devils are the only team in the league to have played as many as six games.

Hearing Today In Basketball Bribe Case

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A preliminary hearing was set for this afternoon for Dr. Edward H. Sebastian, Pittsburgh dentist charged with attempting to bribe two University of Pittsburgh basketball players.

Dr. Sebastian, former dental instructor at Pitt, was arrested Monday following an investigation of statements by John Fridley, 20-year-old defensive star of the Pitt Panthers, and teammate Dick Falenski, 21, the team's leading scorer.

Fridley and Falenski, both juniors, told university officials Dr. Sebastian offered them scholarships to Pitt's dental school, and to pay them 50 per cent of bet winnings if they would keep Pitt's victory margins within betting range.

Dr. Sebastian denied the charges, saying, "everything we discussed, (Fridley) started."

The investigation began Dec. 11 when Fridley and Falenski, on the advice of their parents, reported to University Athletic Director Frank Carver that they were offered a bribe.

Fridley told detectives he met with Dr. Sebastian separately Dec. 3 and Dec. 9. He said Falenski was with him in a meeting Dec. 10, and that it was then Dr. Sebastian gave him pitch.

He "offered us the world—anything that came to his mind he said he'd get us—cars at cost and everything," Fridley said.

Falenski, who has been averaging 17 points a game, said: "Our grades aren't up to snuff, but he said he'd fix everything—get us senatorial scholarships and guarantee we got into dental school."

Both players said they refused to have anything to do with the offer.

Earned Run Title Won By Wilhelm

BOSTON (AP)—Hoyt Wilhelm, 36-year-old Baltimore knuckleballer, climaxed a brilliant pitching comeback in 1959 by winning the American League earned run title, the official averages released today showed.

Wilhelm yielded only 55 earned runs in 226 innings for an ERA of 2.19. Camilo Pascual of Washington was second with 2.64 followed by Bob Shaw of the Chicago White Sox, 2.69 and Art Ditmar, New York, 2.90.

Wilhelm is the first pitcher ever to lead in both the National and American Leagues. He topped the NL in 1952 with a 2.43 mark while relieving for the New York Giants. Manager Paul Richards of the Orioles switched him to starting roles late in the 1958 campaign and, although finishing with a 3-10 record, Hoyt hurled a no-run, no-hit game against the Yankees.

Early Wynn of the White Sox, another veteran right-hander, captured a large share of the pitching spoils. He won the most games, 22, pitched the most innings, 256 and tied Detroit's Paul Foytack for starting the most games, 37. Wynn also gave up the most bases on balls, 119.

Bob Shaw of Chicago won 18 games and lost only 6 for the best winning percentage, .750. Jim Bunning, Detroit's fireballer, led in three categories—strikeouts (201), home runs allowed (37) and total batsmen faced (942).

Pascual, who had a 17-10 won-loss record for his first "winner" in six big league seasons, set the pace in complete games with 17 and shutouts with six.

The clinic continued today with Coaches John Cabas and Karl Zellers and the high school basketball team serving as instructors. John Dawson, assistant manager of the Memorial Building directed the clinic.

SPLIT CAGE GAMES

Beaver Local's junior high squad took a 15-10 decision from Westgate's second team freshmen but were drubbed 37-28 by Boardman Junior High in recent cage action. Jim Woody was high man in both games for the junior Beavers.

Opening classes Monday of the two-day basketball clinic conducted at the high school gym were attended by 132 local boys, aged 9-16.

The clinic continued today with Coaches John Cabas and Karl Zellers and the high school basketball team serving as instructors. John Dawson, assistant manager of the Memorial Building directed the clinic.

S & B Greenhouses Blasts Birkhimer's

Foreman's Window Cleaning had no defense to cope with the sharp shooting of Chuck Greiner as Farmers Bank rolled to its seventh win in eight starts Monday night in Class A basketball action at the Memorial Building.

S & B Greenhouses sent Birkhimer's Isalys down to its eighth defeat in nine games by a score of 69-47 in the other contest played.

Greiner riddled Foreman's with 28 points in the Bankers' 78-71 win. The little guard hit for 12 points in the first quarter to help his club jump to a quick 25-12 lead.

After trailing 36-27 at halftime, Foreman's outscored their opponents 44-42 in the last two quarters, but Greiner had already gotten in his licks. Moe Meissner led Foreman's with 19 points, all but two of them coming in the big second half push.

S & B Greenhouses spotted Birkhimer's a 15-9 lead in the first quarter, then took command in the second period on the shooting of Dave Hiner and Dave Roller.

Norm Hill, Birkhimer's leading scorer for the year, notched 17 points to pace the losers. Hiner wound up on top for S & B Greenhouses with 20 markers while Roller tallied 15.

Class A games scheduled for Wednesday have been postponed until after Christmas. A four-game card is slated for the Memorial Building on Dec. 28.

Youngstown U. To Participate In Tourney

YOUNGSTOWN — Youngstown University swings into action during the Christmas vacation when they travel to Quincy, Illinois, to participate in the Quincy Holiday Tournament, Dec. 28-30.

This is the second year for the tourney and along with Youngstown, defending champion Tennessee A&I State, Southern Illinois, Western Illinois and host Quincy all return from last year's meet.

Newcomers this year are Milliken University, Christian Brother and Emporia State. Games are billed afternoon and evening on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Tigers from Nashville open defense of their title in the first game of the tourney, Monday at 1:30 p.m. The Penguins follow against Southern Illinois at 3:30.

The Penguins will carry a 4-2 record into the meet, with most of the hopes resting on Mickey Yugovich and Howard McElroy. Yugovich, the 6-6 senior captain in his fourth year as a regular, is off to his best year as a Penguin.

In the first six games, he has scored 153 points for an average of 25.5. Yugovich also is the team's best rebounder, grabbing 15 per game.

McElroy, in his second year of varsity competition, has scored 33 field goals in 66 attempts for a 50 per cent mark, tops in this department. He also is the best foul shooter, making 20 of 27.

Both Have 2-0 Records

Tri-County Paced By Poland, Minerva

Minerva and Poland, the two Tri-County League cage powers last year, look to be the class of the loop again this season.

Minerva, defending champion, and Poland, which won 16 of 19 games for second place, are the only two unbeaten clubs in the league. Both have 2-0 marks.

None of the eight member schools has a league game scheduled until Jan. 5. However, on that night Minerva and Poland will collide on the Lions' home court in a contest which could go a long way in determining the eventual league champion.

Tonight Minerva will be at home against Perry and Poland will take on Boardman in the first round of the Firebell Tournament at Austintown Fitch.

Canfield and Fitch are the other two teams participating in the tournament.

Tourney action will shift to Canfield on Wednesday when the two losers and two winners from Tuesday will tangle. Poland can retire the Firebell trophy by winning this year. They have been champions each of the last two years.

In other action tonight involving Tri-County League clubs, East Palestine has the unpleasant task of facing powerful Salem on the Quakers' own floor. Leetonia will be at home to a strong but slipping United High quintet. Leetonia is (2-1) and United (3-2).

The Bears claim the league's leading scorer, Lee Radler, 6-0 senior. Radler has 78 points in three games for a red-hot 26 point average. He has a 21 point edge over runner-up Rich Harold of Columbiana. Harold has poured through 57 markers for a 19 point average.

Coach Says 'Texas' Backs Could Give Syracuse Trouble

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Texas' swift backs could give national champion Syracuse trouble in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day, says Hal Lahar, who came from Colgate in 1956 to coach the University of Houston.

However Lahar, host to Syracuse at its training site here, shied from any prediction of the outcome. Nor would he comment on the announced breakup of the Colgate-Syracuse rivalry, other than to call it "unfortunate."

"Tradition and rivalry have made football what it is. This is the real motivation behind college football," he declared.

Lahar saw little difference in Eastern and Southwest styles of play, particularly since the Southwest largely abandoned wide-open tactics about five years ago in favor of possession football.

"We seem to get a different-type boy down here," Lahar said. "They come rangy, big-boned, lean, not so heavily muscled as in the East."

Speed is a favorite topic in this football-hungry land. Track is popular, topped only by football.

Boys run all year in this snow-free climate, so it is no surprise when the Southwest Conference schools and Houston continually come up with fast backs.

Jimmy Saxton, a 160-pound quarterback, is the University of Texas' fastest runner and most dangerous back, in Lahar's opinion.

Saxton, a frequent runner on the run-or-pass option, alternates with Bobby Lackey whom Lahar considers a good passer.

Jack Collins is a Texas threat at left halfback, although Lahar feels that Ernie Davis, Syracuse's highly touted sophomore half, is just as fast.

Junior Has Tallied 98 Points

Wellsville's Kiggans Takes Over Scoring Lead In County

By DICK BRAUTIGAM
Bob Kiggans, Wellsville's 6-2 junior pivot man, has taken over the scoring lead among Columbiana County's high school cagers. He has tallied 98 points.

Last week's scoring leader, Tom Keating of Salineville, slipped to third place after being held to a total of 23 points in a pair of games. Teammate Dave Gearin also moved around Keating into second place with 92 points in six games. Keating has 83 points, three more than United's big Jim Summer, who is in fourth place with 80.

Kiggans, who averaged 18 points a game during the last half of the 1958 schedule, chalked up 37 points in leading the Tigers to a pair of impressive victories last weekend. The junior is averaging 19.6 points per contest for Wellsville's five games.

WELLSVILLE HAS waltzed to four easy victories since losing their opener to a powerful Midland, Pa., quintet by a score of 71-43. With the exception of Salem, which has played only one game and won it, the Tigers' 4-1 record is the best in the county.

Salem, which may be even tougher than the 1958-59 team which was state runner-up, is the only outfit in the county without a defeat. All eleven schools have won at least one game.

Salem knocked Columbiana from the unbeaten ranks last week by a rousing 81-56 score, with sure-fire all-state material, Dave Hunter, tossing in 27 points. The Quakers tangle with East Palestine (2-1) tonight in Salem.

LEETONIA, LED by high scoring Lee Radler, can equal last year's total number of victories tonight by handling invading United. The Bears, which had a poor 3-15 record last year, have already won two of three tilts this season.

Radler, a 6-0 senior, is averaging 26 points for those three games. This includes a 40-point performance against Fairfield-Waterford last Tuesday.

In the only other game scheduled tonight involving a county team, Beaver Local (1-4) will be at home against Newell, W. Va. The Beavers have two men among the top 20 scorers in the county. They are Mike Durbin with 58 points and Dick Barnhart with 51.

Green Bay Packers' Mentor Voted 'Coach of the Year'

NEW YORK (AP)—Vinnie Lombardi, in his first year as head coach of the Green Bay Packers, today was voted coach of the year by National Football League writers in the annual Associated Press poll.

The 45-year-old tactician, who once served as Red Blaik's backfield coach at West Point, guided his team to a third-place tie in the Western Conference with seven victories against five defeats.

Lombardi took over a team which had won only one game, lost 10 and tied one in Green Bay's poorest season in 40 years of professional football.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M. D.

Lose Weight Healthfully

After two weeks of the diet I suggested in a previous column, check your weight. Be sure you weigh on the same scale at about the same time of day. Wear the same clothes you were previously.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

If you haven't lost two or three pounds, make sure you haven't "sinned" by taking concentrated foods like butter, cream, olive oil, oleomargarine, bacon, honey, jam, cooked cereal, potato, spaghetti, macaroni, noodles, pastries, gravies, hot cakes, pie, ice cream, peanut butter or thickened soups. Or maybe candy or alcoholic beverages!

MAKE ANOTHER trial of two weeks, being certain not to "sin" and cutting down a bit on the size of your portions.

When you get to where you're regularly losing a pound or two or three every two weeks, just keep up the good work. A slow and progressive loss will do you lots more good than a rapid loss from a "crash diet" followed by the inevitable gain.

And you'll find your blood pressure falls maybe 10 to 20 points for each pound of weight loss.

BUT IF YOU'VE no luck after a month or so, see your doctor. Ask for an early morning appointment. Go without breakfast so he can check on your basal metabolism. This is a simple test that measures the amount of oxygen you use up under standard conditions, just like you'd measure gas consumption on your automobile after you'd traveled over a set course.

If your metabolism is low, your doctor will prescribe thyroid extract for you. That makes you burn more oxygen, just like your car would use more gas if you advanced the spark.

ONCE YOU start on thyroid, you must let your doctor check the dose at least once a month for a while. If you don't, your oxygen consumption may continue to go up until your motor races so fast you'll rattle and palpitate even when you're at complete rest.

But maybe you think this diet is too slow for you. Maybe you want fast action without regard to your health. If so, there's a small army of promoters and quacks just looking for you.

You can buy yourself special foods, vibrators, rolling machines, cabinet baths, massage, appetite-killers, drugs to give you a false loss of weight by increasing your output of urine or producing diarrhea, and seaweed or sawdust to fill you up on non-nutritious bulk.

There's no reason you shouldn't contribute your share to the 500 million dollars a year that your fellow citizens waste in the field of nutrition.

Chessman Sentenced To Death 8th Time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Caryl Chessman, convict-author who has evaded the executioner for 11½ years of appeals and petitions, today was sentenced to death for the eighth—and possibly the last time.

Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker at Feb. 19 as the execution date for Chessman.

Neither Chessman, who is in San Quentin Prison, nor his attorney was present at today's court session. Re-sentencing is routine after an appeal has been denied.

The sentencing today followed official notification that all of Chessman's appeals had been denied.

The latest was a denial by the U.S. Supreme Court of his petition for a review of a lower court ruling that the transcript of his trial in 1948 was a valid record.

Chessman, now 38, was convicted of 17 felonies. Two of them were kidnappings for robbery with bodily injury and sexual outrages on the women victims, which can be punishable by death under a California kidnapping law.
